INTRODUCTION

The 1988-89 Pennsylvania Public Library Statistics publication is compiled from information reported in the Public Library Annual Report for calendar year 1988 or fiscal year 1988-89 and is contained in Tables 1, 2, 3 & 4.

The publication is separated into two main categories of libraries. Parts I and II reflect the operations of libraries that participate in the State Aid to Public Libraries Program (State Aided Libraries) and Parts III and IV report data for libraries that do not participate in the State Aid Program (Non-State Aided Libraries). The combined total of State Aided and Non-State Aided Library data is given in the blocked section of Page 93. The data presented in charts and graphs reflects the combined statistics of State Aided and Non- State Aided libraries.

Libraries are organized by county and by the municipality in which the library is located. Where there is a system in place, the system headquarters is identified by an "H" preceding the library location. An "M" identifies system member libraries.

In general, column headings are self explanatory with two areas of note: In Table 3, the INCOME SCHOOL BOARD and INDIRECT FEDERAL AID figures are included in the TOTAL LOC GOV INC column. Also, the SALARIES WAGES AND BENEFITS figure represents all library employees including maintenance and security staff while FTE calculations exclude maintenance and security staff.

Reimbursement to libraries for participation in the ACCESS PENNSYLVANIA Statewide Card System is included in the State and Federal Income columns and in the State and Federal Expenditure columns as appropriate for each library.

The results and analysis of the 1988-89 Public Library Salary Survey is reported in Part VII.

Part VIII compares the local tax money a library receives with the available tax base, and then to the population the library is required to serve. The first table compares the local government income received by a public library with the market value of real estate in the municipality or municipalities the library serves. Since most of the local tax dollars that go to support public libraries in Pennsylvania are derived from property taxes, this table gives some indication of how the municipality or municipalities support the library relative to the tax base available to them.

The second table in this section compares local tax income to population served. This table gives an indication of how well the municipality or municipalities support the library relative to the number of people for whom the library must provide resources and services.

The market value of taxable property used in the first table is established annually by the Pennsylvania Tax Equalization Board. The figure given is the total market value of all municipalities within the library's service area. Local government income is reported by the libraries in the Public Library Annual Report. Service area populations include all municipalities from which the library receives income.

Accuracy is essential to the value and usefulness of this publication and notes of emission and error are invited.

CIRCULATION ANALYSIS EXPENDITURE and LOAD PER FTE

OPERATING EXPENDITURE per TRANSACTION relates the library expenditures to the number of items the library circulates. It is obtained by dividing the total expenditure (salary & wages, benefits, collection and operations) by the total circulation. Capital expenditures are not included because they vary widely from year to year.

CIRCULATION per FULL TIME EQUIVALENT staff member is a measure of the number of items each library staff member would circulate based on a work schedule of 35 hours per week. This figure is useful as an indicator of the relative efficiency of staff. This table does not isolate the number of staff directly involved in circulation activities. Larger libraries are more likely to have staff involved in activities that do not relate to circulation.

 INTRODUCTION ***

The State Library of Pennsylvania, Library Development Division surveyed all public libraries to determine the 1988-89 salaries and benefits for selected staff positions. 450 libraries were sent surveys, 438 responded, A response rate of 97.3%. Responses were tabulated and included in this analysis. This is the second year this information was collected.

Results of the survey are organized in the following categories:

Responses of All Libraries
Responses of Libraries Serving 20,000 and Above
Responses of Libraries Serving 10,000 - 20,000
Responses of Libraries Serving 5,000 - 10,000
Responses of Libraries Serving Fewer than 5,000

Responses to questions that asked for a YES or NO answer are given in percentages. Because not every question was answered by every library, the number of valid responses for each question varies and is listed as VALID CASES. For example:

	VALID CASES	YES	NO
ARE RETIREMENT BENEFITS PROVIDED FOR FULL TIME EMPLOYEES?	438	31.5	68.5

This example means that all 438 libraries responded to this question. 68.5% of the 438 libraries offer no retirement while 31.5% do offer retirement benefits.

For questions where the response was a number, such as salaries, or years, the RANGE (the lowest response given and highest response given), the MEAN (arithmetical average), the MODE (most frequently occurring response) and MEDIAN (the middle value, above and below which one half of the responses fall) are listed, as appropriate.

In cases where it is more meaningful, the MEDIAN is provided instead of the MODE. For example.

	VALID CASES	----RANGE----	MEAN	MEDIAN
SALARY OF STARTING PROFESSIONAL LIBRARIAN:	190	$7,000 - $27,000	$16,583	$16,500

In the above example, 190 of the 438 libraries responded to the questions relating to starting salary for professional librarians. The lowest starting salary for a professional librarian is $7,000 while the highest reported salary is $27,000. The average of the 190 responses is $16,583. If the responses were ranked, the salary in the middle of the list, the median, would be $16,500. Because the MEDIAN figure is close to the MEAN, we understand the distribution of salaries is normal, that is, follows the familiar bell curve. With a normal distribution, the MEAN can be used to accurately describe the data. In this example, the MODE figure is not given because it would not provide useful information in analyzing the data.

Responses were compiled for all questions answered by enough libraries to produce reliable results. For instance, for libraries serving fewer than 5,000 residents, only four libraries responded to the questions pertaining to the Children's Librarian. Since four responses is too small a response to accurately represent all childrens librarians in that service area group, no data was calculated for Childrens Librarian. Similarly, in this service area group, no data is reported for Head of Reference, Head of Technical Services, Head of ILL or Branch Librarian.

In addition to the descriptive statistics mentioned above, a t-test was performed to verify the significant difference between the salaries of male and female librarians. The t-test found that salary differential to be statistically significant, i.e., not likely to have been caused by chance.

 RESULTS AND ANALYSIS ***

PROFILE OF THE PROFESSIONAL PUBLIC LIBRARIAN

Based on Salary Survey Responses of Libraries Serving 20,000 and Above

Pennsylvania's State Aid standards require public libraries serving over 20,000 to be under the direction of a professional librarian. For this reason, professional librarians were most frequently found in the survey responses of libraries with a population of 20,000 and above.

To be certified as a professional public librarian in Pennsylvania requires a Masters Degree in Library Science from a school accredited by the American Library Association or approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education. Pennsylvania's public libraries employ 997 full time equivalent (35 hours/week) certified professional librarians. Of this number, over 46% work in either the Free Library of Philadelphia or the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh.

Of the 522 positions represented in the survey responses submitted by libraries serving 20,000 and above, over half (302) were filled by professional librarians. Of this number, 17% (52) are males and 83% (252) are females. Of the 52 male professional librarians, 32 are Library Director, six Head of Reference, five are Consultant Librarians and five work as Head of Technical Services. Two work as Head of ILL, one as Childrens Librarian and one as Branch Librarian. No library reported a male Head of Circulation.

In libraries of this size, the positions most often held by a professional librarian (other than the District Consultant Librarian) are Library Director (92%) and Head of Reference (74%). The position least often held by a professional librarian is Head of Circulation (12%).

Although female professional librarians outnumber males approximately five to one, males are more likely to direct libraries. 28% of the females are directors of libraries while 62% of male professionals are directing libraries.

The average starting salary of professional librarians employed by public libraries serving 20,000 and above is $17,153 with a range of $10,500 to $24,897. The average starting salary of professional librarians regardless of the size of their service area is $16,583.

SALARY PROFILE OF PUBLIC LIBRARY DIRECTORS

Based on Salary Survey Responses of All Libraries

The certification requirement for public library directors in Pennsylvania is based on the size of the library's service area. Therefore, only directors serving larger populations (over 20,000) are required to be professional librarians. In public libraries serving smaller populations, the director's certification can be lower, such as a provisional certification (bachelor's degree and 12 credit hours of library science), or library assistant (two years of college and 9 credit hours of library science). The smallest libraries have no certification requirement for their library director.

Regardless of certification and size of library, Pennsylvania's public library directors earn an average annual salary of $16,112. This is down from last year's reported annual average salary of $17,163. Directors of libraries serving larger populations (over 20,000) show a higher average salary, $28,068, while directors serving between 10,000 and 20,000 report an average salary of $16,364. Directors serving between 5,000 and 10,000 earn an average salary of $11,339 and directors of the smallest libraries, those serving fewer than 5,000, are earning an average salary of $6,353.

Approximately half of the nearly 420 directors represented in the survey are certified as professional librarians. Because of Pennsylvania's State Aid standards, most professional librarians work in libraries with service areas of at least 20,000. In public libraries of this size, the survey shows the director earns an average annual salary of $28,068. Male directors in these larger libraries earn an average salary of $34,692 and work 36.6 hours per week on average while female directors working in similar sized libraries earn an average salary of $25,321 and work an average of 30.6 hours per week.

Although most directors of libraries responding to the survey are female (88%), the average salary for female library directors is nearly $15,000 less than the average salary for male library directors. Overall, female public library directors earned 51% less than male directors. The typical library director in Pennsylvania is female, White and has worked in her current position just over eight years. She earns $16,112.

----- Avg Salary Lib Dir ----- ---Yrs in Pos---

 BENEFITS ***

In the previous salary survey, we collected information on benefits available for all library employees not distinguishing full or part time status. The survey results that year indicated that less than half the library employees in Pennsylvania were offered even basic benefits. For example, 67% of all reporting libraries offered no retirement plan.

In 1988-89, the current report, we asked the same questions pertaining to benefits but asked libraries to distinguish the level of benefits offered to full time employees from those available for part time employees. The data shows benefits for full time employees in the current survey to be consistent with last year's data. Using retirement benefits as an example, 68.5% of the libraries offer no retirement for their full time employees and 93% of the libraries offer no retirement for part time employees.

RESPONSES OF ALL LIBRARIES

Just under half (45.7%) of the libraries, regardless of their service area size, offer Major Medical coverage for their full time employees, and only one in twelve (8%) offer this coverage for part time staff. The number of libraries offering life insurance is also low. Life Insurance is available to full time employees in only 25% of our libraries and for part time employees in 5% of libraries.

Other medical coverage is not commonly offered. 20% of the libraries offer Dental Insurance to full time employees and approximately 15% offer Prescription and Vision Care. For part time employees, less than 3% of the libraries offer this coverage.

Approximately 60% of the libraries responded to the questions pertaining to Leave Policies. Full time employees working in the responding libraries earning an average of 10.3 paid vacation days the first year on the job with an average maximum of 18.9 days per year. Sick leave is earned at a similar rate: 10.2 days the first year with a maximum of 19 days per year. Full time employees were paid an average of 9.3 holidays during the year. One third of the libraries offered Personal Leave for their full time employees (average of 2.8 days per year). Leave for part time employees is less in all cases.

RESPONSES OF LIBRARIES SERVING 20,000 and ABOVE

As expected, libraries with larger service areas are more likely to employ professional librarians and are more likely to offer benefits to both their full time and part time employees. For example, 64% of these libraries offer a retirement program for full time staff and nearly 17% extend this benefit to part time employees.

Larger libraries are also twice as likely to offer life insurance to their full time (49.2%) and part time staff (9.2%) than smaller sized libraries.

The overall response to Major Medical coverage also changes when data relating to full time and part time staff is collected and tabulated separately. For 1987-88, only 23% of the responding libraries serving 20,000 and above indicated they offered Major Medical benefits. The current survey of the similar sized libraries shows 82.5% of the libraries offer Major Medical coverage for full time employees and about 17% for part time staff.

Paid Leave offered by this group of libraries is similar to that offered by libraries overall, regardless of service area.

Libraries in this category are more likely to offer Miscellaneous Business Benefits for their director, professional and other staff members. Virtually all libraries of this size (99.1%) pay conference expenses for their director; three out of four pay for the director's Personal Association Dues, approximately half (47.4%) pick up some Education Expenses and about 20% pay for a personal subscription to Professional Publications.

SMALLER LIBRARIES

Libraries serving populations less than 20,000 are unlikely to offer benefits to full or part time employees. Roughly 30% of the libraries serving between 10,000 and 20,000 offer a retirement program for their full time staff and half the libraries in this size offer Major Medical. For libraries serving populations between 5,000 and 10,000 only 15% offer a retirement program for full time staff and 2% for part time staff. Major Medical is available in only 28% of the libraries for full time staff and in 6% for part time staff.

Leave policies, however, are similar to larger libraries. The average annual and sick leave for a first-year staff member is about 10 days with the maximum of about 20 days.
